10:45AM to 11:45AM	Hampton Room	Smarter City: Using University Research Agreements to Fuel Innovation in Your City	When cities and universities collaborate, great things happen. This presentation will explore how local universities can be a valuable resource when your city is solving complex challenges. Additionally, university research helps cities navigate difficult policy areas ranging from sustainability to transportation to housing affordability/homelessness. Working with a city is also a win-win experience for a university. Cities can provide universities with research funding, student internship opportunities, and most importantly, an opportunity to serve the community. Join our presentation to learn how your city and university can collaborate to fuel local innovation.	Holly Heinrich & Brandon Carr
